Firestone Meat Laboratory – OPSU campus

Dr. Estes Firestone Memorial Scholarship

Est. 1990

Dr. Estes Firestone was associated with the university from 1938-1942 as a student and from 1942-1983 as a faculty member in the Animal Science department until his retirement in 1983. He graduated from PAMC in 1942 with a B.S. in Animal Science. His tenure was interrupted when he served three years in the navy during WWII. He also received his M.S. from OSU and his Ph.D. from Colorado State University. He was very active on campus serving in many capacities and beloved and respected by both the faculty and student body. The Firestone Meats Laboratory was officially dedicated in his name in 1984. This scholarship was set up by memorial donations from family and friends. Mrs. Gertrude Firestone passed away in 2007.
