Marvin and Corabell McKee Presidential Scholarship

Est. 1985

Dr. Marvin McKee was president of the university from 1944-1968. The contributions of Dr. McKee to the building and growth of Panhandle State College has been a key factor in the continuous progress of the university. During President McKee's 24 year reign, building programs consisted of: No Man's Land Museum, Hesper Hall, Field Hall dorm, McKee Library, Field House, Hefley Building, Hamilton Building, Student Union, Holter Hall and Married Student Housing. Remodeling and many additions were also done at this time. Dr. McKee went on to become a 10-year member of the House of Representatives, District #61.

Corabell McKee came to PAMC in 1936 as President Ed Morrison's secretary. In 1938, she married Marvin McKee. She taught high school English at Texhoma from 1942-1943. During her husband's presidency, Corabell's life evolved around the university becoming very involved and instrumental in its growth and success.

This scholarship was endowed by family and friends and is available to an academically outstanding local student who exhibits the exemplary traits of the president and his wife.
